REPORT OF THE GRAND JURY OF PACIFIC COUNTY, W. T.

District Court of the Second Judicial District of Washington Territory, holding terms at Oysterville, July term, 1873.

To the Hon. Roger S. Green, Judge of the said Court: The grand jury duly impanneled for the said term, having concluded their labors, do now submit this, their report:

1st. They have examined all complaints made, and all witnesses brought before them, and as the result of such examination, have returned one true bill on the part of the Territory; none on the part of the United States.

2d. We take pleasure in testifying to the general good order which prevails in the county.

3d. We proceeded in a body to the office of the County Auditor, for the purpose of examining the records of the county, and as the result of our examination we find the records of the county are kept in a neat and orderly manner, so far as the Auditor is able to do so with the means furnished him by the Board of Commissioners. But we feel it to be our duty to call the attention of the Commissioners, through the Court, to the fact that the Auditor has but one book in which to record mortgages, stock brands, marriage licenses, bills of sale, inventories of separate property, chattel mortgages, mechanics' leins, and the like, all of which are mixed up in an indiscriminate manner. An appropriation of from ten to twenty dollars would enable the Auditor to provide separate books for each of the matters enumerated above, and we think that the credit of the county and the welfare of its present and future citizens require that such an appropriation be made.

We made an examination of the annual assessment roll, and declare that in our opinion, based upon such examination and upon our personal knowledge of the value of property, that the assessment made is unfair, and unequal, by which we mean that an unfair valuation has been made, and the result is that the burden of taxation is not equally divided.

We feel that this matter is one that needs only to be suggested, and that the proper remedy will be applied. We are all alike interested in the county, and every man should be required to bear his equal and fair share of the cost of maintaining the government that extends equal protection to all.

We did not examine the condition of the other county officers, as no complaint was made, and the character of the gentlemen holding the offices is such, that we feel sure that an examination would only result in our certifying to what is already known, to wit: "that they are good and faithful servants."

We return thanks to the court and its officers for courtesies shown us, and to Joseph M. Fletcher, Esq., District Attorney, for the assistance he has rendered us in the discharge of our duties.

We recommend that this report be published in the OREGONIAN, Astorian and Courier for the information of the people of the country and that the clerk of the court furnish an attested copy thereof to each of these papers.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

HOW TO SELL PATENT GAS BURNERS.

"Sir!" said a tall, thin man, clad in a worn, very shining garb, suddenly appearing in the room, "I have ventured to call to lay before you one of the most astonishing inventions of modern times." They all begin in some such impressive way as that. "A gas burner, sir." I was busy arranging some papers in a corner, and having both hands full, with a pen held crossways in my mouth. I was for the moment quite at his mercy. "Perhaps, sir, you are aware that in the case of every kind of burner but this I show you, gas gives a most noxious effluvium, having a peculiarly ruinous effect upon the eyesight." By this time I had emptied my hands and mouth, and was advancing upon him. Fixing his eyes upon mine, he started back in distressful horror. "Heaven help us, sir," he exclaimed, "how you have suffered already! Your sight, sir, would not last six months longer. This must not be."

Before I could say a word or lift a finger to stop him he rapidly glided past me to the table on which the lamp stood. With a nimbleness which rooted me to the spot in apprehension, he whipped off the shade, then the old burner. In a moment the lamp was a ruin. "It is a mercy of Providence, sir, that I happened to call."

"Stop!" I called. "Replace everything as it was, instantly."

"The number of cases of premature blindness," he calmly proceeded, "that I had the gratification of preventing makes my labor a most pleasant one."

Thinking he might be deaf, I bawled, "I don't want your burner, I won't have it, take it off," for he was lightly twirling the new one in its place.

"There sir, you will feel thankful to me as long as you live! The only thing that troubles me in the matter is I know I am ruining the spectacle makers."

"Do you hear?" I asked. "I shall not pay you for it."

He struck a very effective attitude. "Payment! of what consequence is that? I could not remove that inestimable burner for any amount of money, when the alternative is the ruin of your valuable eyesight. For, sir, your eyes are worth many burners. I make you a present of it willingly. I am a poor man, under heavy traveling expenses, and I have a family in want." He sighed. "But duty shall be done. The price is threepence half penny, or three shillings a dozen. I know you will regret this momentary harshness in the long years to come, when you are enjoying the benefits of that burner. But that is not my affair, though I am sorry to think of it. Good morning, sir. If at any time, no matter how long an interval, by some inconceivable accident anything should become out of order in it, you will find the name of the manufacturer stamped on the side. Be good enough to drop a line to their well known house at Glasgow and a man will instantly be sent to attend to it."

I was beaten. The offer to send a man from Scotland into the heart of England after the lapse of three years, to put a gratuitously bestowed threepence half penny burner to rights was too much for me. I had to make a purchase.—Chambers' Journal.

A Springfield dispatch of the 18th instant says: "Grant's building in Westfield was burned this evening. Cause, an explosion in W. W. Richardson & Co.'s whip factory, by which W. W. Richardson, son of the proprietor, was instantly killed. Loss on building $5,000, to Richardson & Co., $4,000, others, $1,400—on all of which there was no insurance. Merrick & Rice lost $8,000, insurance $5,000."

A WOMAN'S VIEWS OF A QUESTION IN WHICH WOMAN IS CONCERNED.

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

As I see by the papers that the editor of the New Northwest is holding protracted meetings in the valley towns, I take upon myself a task which, were she at her post, where she could see the daily papers, I should leave her to perform for herself.

Last week, I saw in the New Northwest, among many glittering good things a statement that the editor had received a long letter, intended for publication, from the widow of Hon. G. W. Brown, in which the writer had expressed herself terribly displeased because Mrs. Duniway did not 'forget the rights of all other women, and spend her energies in future in defending Sadie Hoon.' Said Mrs. D. with an evident spirit of fairness which I was pleased to see, 'We thank our friend and sister for having written us thus plainly. We should publish her letter, had not the points been much, though in a [illegible], wholly unlike hers in a letter published last week.' The italics are mine. Judge of my surprise, when, on taking up your paper of the 17th inst., I saw a note from Mrs. Brown, as an introduction to the letter which Mrs. Duniway had received and charitably commented upon in the above spirit, which read as follows:

PORTLAND, July 15, 1873.

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

Inclosed I send you a copy of the communication which was sent to the New Northwest for publication, by the widow of G. W. Brown, but which the editor of that journal rejected, or at least declined to publish on the plea of limited space, and a fear that she would tire "the dear public" with too much upon one theme. Should the columns of the OREGONIAN prove to be less crowded than those of the New Northwest, and you conclude to insert the article, I hope you will beg those of the "dear public" who are "tired" of the "theme" to consider themselves under no compulsion to read it.

H. C. BROWN.

Mrs. Duniway had further said that 'one other woman had written her agreeing with Mrs. Brown, and "more than fifty had written, agreeing with her own views."' If I can interpret plain English, Mrs. Duniway did not reject Mrs. Brown's letter from want of space, but because its points had already been given by another correspondent, while more than fifty letters were rejected, my own among them, because "the dear public gets tired of too much upon one theme." I am very sorry to see Mrs. Brown become the tool of tricky politicians, but you, Mr. Editor, have but to compare the style of her letter of complaint against Mrs. Duniway's course, with that of a communication signed "J. G.," and rejected by you, which afterwards appeared in the Bulletin, to know that the same mind that prompted the one inspired the other. This "J. G." is a Mitchell man publicly because of certain railroad interests, while privately dictating letters for Democratic women to print in Republican journals against the Senator whom he dislikes personally. Now, as you have given one 'woman's views upon a subject in which woman is concerned,' will you be just enough to give the views of one other woman upon the same subject? I, for one, had nothing to do with the Senatorial election, consequently, so far as I am personally concerned, the case of our erring Senator is "none of my funeral;" but when I see women, who profess to be friends to their own enfranchisement, trying to dog into open resistance to our righteous cause a man who, for six long years, will be in possession of the principal key to Oregon's entrance to her rightful heritage, I say to her in all seriousness: "Where is your sympathy for down-trodden woman, of which we have all heard so much?"

That Mitchell has done wickedly no good woman will deny; certainly not Mrs. Duniway; but to suppose the "cause of down-trodden woman" will be helped along by throwing spite and scorn at him in his exalted position, behind a governmental coat of mail, from which he can peep and laugh at them while doubly forging their political chains, is the most consummate folly.

I do not believe Mrs. Duniway cares one cent for promotion. Her course rather proves that she would gladly give her body to be crushed under the juggernaut of public indignation, rather than throw one obstacle in the way of Mrs. Brown's enfranchisement.

I would not change one thousandth part of one degree of Mrs. Brown's exhortation to J. H. Mitchell. Let him thankfully heed the good advice she gives him in regard to private restitution, but let him also remember that which she loses sight of, namely that his golden opportunity, under Providence, has come to use his influence and vote, which she evidently underrates, in the Senate of the United States, to which he has been legally chosen by a majority of the representatives of the people of Oregon, for the enfranchisement and elevation of all women, that in the coming years when mothers point out to their children the resting places of himself and those whom he has wronged they may assure them that the sad records of those wrecked lives are deeds of a past era, which equal rights for men and women have successfully overthrown.

QUID PRO QUO NEWSPAPERS.

Some of the Western newspapers having made complaint of the management of the great 'Resurrection Jubilee' of Chicago on the ground that they received no courtesies, the New York Tribune thus comments upon the matter:

Fortunately the complaining newspapers are frank enough to tell what ailed them. They "received no courtesies" from the managers whom they had aided so freely with their pens. This was of course very shabby treatment, considering all things; but why should the country editors complain? When a man of spirit feels himself slighted he does not publish the affront in the newspapers. He wraps himself in his virtue and hides his chagrin from the world. The truth is the Western journalists feel that they have been defrauded of something they have justly earned. An evening paper in Chicago states their case in these words: "Newspaper men, as a rule, are not bloated bondholders, wealthy aristocrats. Their brains are their principal possessions. They earn their living with their pens, and while they do not ask a price for everything they write, they still expect a quid pro quo for their labors, and especially where large profits are gathered in as the result of their efforts."

Now we need hardly say that this is [illegible] at variance with the Tribune's theory of newspaper management. The [illegible] looks for no reward of that kind. He writes of public amusements [illegible] solely in the interest of the public and not in the light of managers. [illegible] to the plain truth about the entertainments they are invited to witness. He does not expect a quid pro quo [illegible] especially when large profits are gathered as a result of his efforts, [illegible] he would resent the offer of any such thing as an insult. He has a [illegible] obligation to his readers to tell them what he knows without [illegible], and the Chicago theory [illegible] the enterprise [illegible] critic.

Mano, the letter carrier who murdered his wife, two daughters, mother and father in law, near Bordeaux, was found guilty, with extenuating circumstances, and was sentenced to transportation for life. His son, a lad of seven years of age and an eye witness, was the chief witness. Mano appealed for a new trial on some technical informality. It was granted. This time he has been found guilty and sentenced to death. The sentence was delivered as midnight struck, the audience remarking that was the hour when the crime was committed.

I am sensible of the force of the philanthropic motives dictating that address. I have at all times desired to extend the practice of closing international controversies by their submission to impartial friends, and to encourage the establishment of rules intended for the equal benefit of all, and I shall continue to pursue a similar course, with due regard to time and opportunity, whenever it is likely to be attended with advantage." A New Haven dispatch of the 18th instant says: "This city was in a state of excitement all day to-day over the result of the boat races at Springfield yesterday. M., four members of the University crew—Cook, McCook, Meyer and Kennedy—arrived with the colors won in the race, and were escorted to their hotel by a large crowd. At 8 o'clock a large number of alumni, students and citizens waited upon the oarsmen, accompanied by a band of music. The College bell was rung, a display of fireworks made, a very large crowd gathered, and the reception of the crew was most enthusiastic. In some remarks, President Porter said that while he hoped it was understood that boating was not the main object of a college course, no man was happier than himself that Yale—quietly, without boasting, by hard work—had won such glorious victories, and that in the list of past defeats no suspicion of underhand dealing with their opponents had ever been cast upon Yale oarsmen."

THE GOSLIN—BY JOSH BILLINGS.

The goslin is the goose's young child. They are yeller all over, and az soft az a ball of worsted. Their foot is wove whole and they can swim az eazy az a drop of kaster oil on the water.

They are born annually about the 15th of May, and never was known tew die natrally!

If a man should tell me he had saw a goose die a natral and square deth, I wouldn't believe him under oath after that, not even if he swore he had lied about seeing a goose die.

The goose are different in one respect from the human family, who are said tew grow weaker and wiser, whereaz a goose alwuz grows tuffer and more phoolish.

I have seen a goose that they sed wuz 63 years old last June and he didn't look an hour older than one that wuz 17.

The goslin waddles when he walks, and paddles when he swims, but never dives, like a dak, out of sight in the water, but only changes ends.

The food of the goslin is rye, corn, oats and barley, sweet apples, hasty pudding, and biled cabbage, boiled potatoes, raw meat, and turnips, stale bread, kold hash and the buckwheat kakes that are left over.

They ain't so partikler az some people what they eat, and won't get mad and quit it they kan't have wet toast and lam chops every morning for breakfast.

If I wuz going tew keep boarders, I would not want any better feeders than an old she goose and 12 goslins. If I couldn't suit them I should konklude I had mistaken my kalling.

Roast goslin is good nurishment if you kan get enuff of it, but there ain't much waste meat on a goslin after you have got rid of the feathers and the things inside.

I hav always noticed when you pas yure plate at hotels for more baked goslin at a table the colored brother comes back with an empty plate and tells, "Mister, the roast goslin is no more."

If Seattle, with a population of less than fifteen hundred souls can raise $10,000,000 to build a railroad across the mountains, surely Olympia should be able to raise two or three hundred of the said dollars to build the short branch she so much desires."

Rane was Gambetta's Minister of Police during the Dictatorship, and is at present the chief editor of his journal, the Republique Francaise. He is an able writer, passionless, most courteous, but the most determined of men. The second Empire sent him to Lambessa for life, and his escape from that African Cayenne is quite a romance. He was accused of plotting against the life of the Napoleon. "You were acquainted with the assassin?" "Yes, sir," replied Rane. "And you persuaded him not to commit the crime?" "Yes, sir," answered Rane, breathing fresh. "'Tis true," added the Judge; "You advised him not to make the attempt, as on account of the assassin being short-sighted you believed he could not take a good aim at his Majesty."

FASHION NOTES.

Mantles are much more worn than has been the case for two or three seasons. Some are very elegant and effective and profusely ornamented.

The fichus and pelerines worn are innumerable, and new varieties make their appearance every day. They almost all have frills round the throat.

Ribbon trimmings are very fashionable. Though comparatively expensive, they are not uneconomical wear, as they can be transferred from one dress to another.

The evening dresses are of lighter colors and more diaphanous materials than ever. For young unmarried ladies nothing is so elegant or so becoming as white trimmed with colored flowers or ribbons.

The styles of dress now worn may be divided into three, with, of course, a few subdivisions and varieties: the robe de chambre for indoor morning wear, the costume for walking or indoor wear, and the robe drapee or long dress.

Frills and ruffs round the throats of high or open dresses are much worn, but ladies of fashion do not carry them to the exaggerated extent and outre size of many seen in the shop windows. There will always, unfortunately, be persons who are only attracted by eccentricities, but all extremes are avoided by real elegantes.

It is worthy of notice that the throats of high bodices, whatever the style or material, are cut very slightly pointed in front. This is to allow of the frills so generally worn, setting away a little from the throat, instead of close around. The costumes of other materials are made walking length, and, of course, are not so restrained as to the style of their trimming.

For out of doors the pale colors are most elegantly worn; the brilliant tints are reserved for indoor and evening wear. There are some lovely new shades of green, very suitable to the season. A prettier or more summer-like combination of color than white and green is impossible. Most of the light green dresses we have seen have been either covered or trimmed with white muslin or lace.

Washing-dresses are ornamented in such a manner that the trimmings are not injured by washing and the drapery of the tunic is arranged to unfasten. This is managed by the substitution of strings, which can be tied and untied, for the usual sewn plaits and folds. Fluted frills and plaitings wash better than anything, but cross-way bands and puffings get up very well if intrusted to a careful laundress.

The charming promenade and indoor toilettes made of such materials as cambric, percale, foulard and washing-satin are increasing every day. The washing satins make very effective underskirts for white muslin dresses for young ladies, married or single—they are so very silky in appearance, and make such handsome drapery. If the best qualities are bought—which is always desirable—it washes well and retains its color to the last and there is not a fourth of the expense of a silk of inferior quality.

If a dress is composed of two colors, every single portion and article of the whole toilet must reproduce the two colors. For instance, a blue and green dress, or blue dress trimmed with green, would look egregiously vulgar and in bad taste accompanied by a blue bonnet and green parasol, or vice versa, in spite of these colors being the same as the dress. The bonnet must be of the two colors, the parasol also. In the latter case the two very small ribbon bows are always fastened to the top of every fashionable umbrella, and, of course, these would be arranged to carry out the colors of the toilette.

OREGON.

Pheasants and game are reported as plentiful in Washington county, but everybody are too busy to gather them.

The foundations of the building designed as a home for the sick at Salem are laid and the work is going on towards completion.

Some sneak-thief broke into the house of a Mr. Jack living on the Tualatin near Cornelius, last Tuesday, and stole a watch. That thief was on time, and got away. But he is watched.

Handsome and eloquent eulogies upon the lives and character of Hon. J. G. Wilson and Judge Thayer, deceased, were pronounced in the Supreme Court on Tuesday morning, by ex-Judge Kelsay, Judge Strong, H. Y. Thompson, Esq., and ex-Judge R. P. Boise.

A Howell Prairie farmer informs the Statesman that nearly all the lodged wheat has straightened up and is filling well. There will be no loss worth mention. In that section of the country, as well as in many other places, the hay crop will average nearly double the usual yield.

Mr. Riley Munkers, an old settler on Salem Prairie, sold his fine farm on last Monday. He took a large band of cattle now on Willow creek, Eastern Oregon, in the trade. He intends, we believe, to make Eastern Oregon his permanent home, and to engage extensively in cattle raising.

Besides hearing resolutions adopted by the bar, and ordering them spread upon the journals, the Supreme Court transacted but little business on Tuesday. The case of Whitlow vs Reese, an appeal from Yamhill county, was taken up and the day was mostly spent in hearing testimony. The Court adjourned at 9 o'clock until Wednesday.

A writer in Crofutt's Western World says: What so highly recommends Oregon to all coming settlers is, that all original titles to our lands are good. We have no Spanish grants, like California; and buyers of our lands can, on examination of the records, see at once all about local incumbrances, from mortgages, judgments or decrees in court.

A little daughter, aged five years, of Mr. John Goodlow, of South Salem, met with a severe and painful accident on Monday. She had been sick with a fever for some time, but was recovering just enough to begin to walk about. While walking along a plank walk in the front yard, she got one foot caught between two planks, and falling broke her leg just below the knee.

THE TERRITORIES.

Black Hawk's mines, in Colorado, sent $80,000 worth of gold bullion out into the world last month.

Some late assays from the Welch silver lode, Georgetown, Colorado, have given as high as $10,000 per ton.

Over one thousand tons of iron have been received by the Kansas Pacific Railroad for use on the extension of their road to Pueblo.

The first flouring mill established in Deer Lodge valley—that of Morgan Evans—is completed and started in operation. Its capacity is 50 sacks per day.

The President has suspended the order requiring the miners to abandon the San Juan mines, on account of their being on the Ute Indian Reservation.

A man named Tim Timmons has been brought to Cheyenne charged with having murdered a man named Joe Smith, at Clay Spring rancho, Wyoming.

Colorado is said to be the greatest sheep growing country in the world, but the most of the sheep there are of the poorest breed, and last year a great part of the wool clip sold on the ranches at four cents a pound.

Contractor Montgomery has his headquarters at Ward's claim, five miles from Steilacoom, and about an equal distance from Tacoma. Work is being pushed towards the latter place rapidly, and two months and a half, it is thought, will finish it.

The Prescott, Arizona, Miner says there have been so many rich discoveries of late that the report of a new one would make no stir, unless a vein of gold or silver, rich enough to cut up with cold chisels into bullion right on the dump, should be found.

The Arizona Citizen of May 24th says: The harvest of wheat and barley has commenced, and in two or three weeks the same land will be again plowed and planted with corn. Mother earth in Arizona does her full share in contributing to the support of man.

Professor J. Alden Smith has presented the Central Register office the first bar of pure bismuth ever produced from Colorado silver. The specimen of mineral from which this bar was taken assayed 64 per cent. bismuth, worth $450 per pound. The ore also yields about 600 ounces silver per ton, in addition to the immense wealth of bismuth.

A scientific party, consisting of Professors Leidy, Porter, Chapman and Wilcox, of Philadelphia, has started on a tour of exploration in the Territories of Wyoming and Colorado. Professor Leidy visited this region last year, and considers it one of the most interesting fields in the world for making paleontological investigations, as the fossil remains of animals are found here in great abundance.

PHAROS.

[From Edmund C. Stedman's Poem at Dartmouth Commencement.]

One such there was, that brother elder-born
And loftiest—from your household torn
In the rathe Spring-time, ere
His steps could seek their olden pathways here.
Mourn!
Mourn! for your Mother mourns, of him bereft—
Her strong one! He is fallen
—But has left
His works your heritage and guide,
Through East and West his stalwart fame divide.
Mourn for the Liberal youth,
The undaunted spirit whose quintessence rare,
Fanned by the Norseland air,
Saw flaming in its own white heart the truth
That man, whate'er his ancestry,
Tanned by what sun or exiled from what shore,
Hears in his soul the high command—Be Free!
For him who, at the parting of the ways,
Disdained the flowery path, and gave
His succor to the hunted Afric slave,
Whose cause he chose nor feared the world's dispraise;
Yet found anon the right become the might,
And, in the long revenge of time,
Lived to renown and hoary years sublime.
Ye know him now, your beacon-light!
Ay, he was fronted like a tower,—
In thought, large-molded, as of frame;
He that, in the supreme hour,
Sat brooding at the river-heads of power
With sovereign strength for every need that came!
Not for that blameless one the place
That opens wide to men of lesser race:—
Even as of old the votes are given,
And Aristides is from Athens driven;
But for our statesman in his [illegible]

With poesy and learning [illegible]
And knees that bent to Heaven [illegible]

THURSDAY MORNING, JULY 24, 1873.

A CANADIAN CREDIT MOBILIER.

The Dominion Government hastens to repel the intimation, made through the Eastern press, that there is a very extensive Credit Mobilier organized in connection with the Canadian Pacific Railway. The magnitude of the scheme, as reported, falls little below that of the great corruption that has made our Union Pacific cost $67,000,000 more to the company and the government than was necessary. We find the particulars of the matter in the New York Tribune of the 8th instant, and are not surprised to see the government come to the front with an explanation, as appears from the dispatches.

The terms proposed by Sir Hugh Allan, and finally accepted, were, that the company represented by him—an Association similar to the Credit Mobilier of America—would construct the road for the consideration of $30,000,000 cash, and 50,000,000 acres of land and sundry very valuable privileges in connection with the road when built. It is not questioned that in order to secure the acceptance of this proposition, Sir Hugh and his associates have expended a large amount of money, and divers members of the Dominion Parliament are strongly suspected of having received pecuniary and other compensation for their influence in putting the job through that body. It has also been whispered so loud as to be distinctly heard all over the surrounding country that the Government itself was influenced by those means not infrequently employed for such purposes, to use its power in the interest of those who sought and obtained the contract. It is this last imputation that the Government now defends itself against.

When it was first noised about that such corruption existed in the Government and among members of Parliament, a member moved for a Committtee of Investigation. The Premier, Sir John A. Macdonald, opposed the action, upon the ground that the House had no authority to compel witnesses to testify before a Committee; but the motion prevailed, and the Committee of Inquiry was appointed. So the investigation proceeded, but its action is spoken of as a half-hearted and nerveless performance from the first, likely to accomplish nothing; and at last, after one or two ineffectual discussions upon its right to compel witnesses to testify, it came to the sage conclusion that the thing could not be done, and then adjourned to the 13th of August. On the day after the adjournment of the committee the Toronto Globe, an anti-administration journal, published four solid columns of letters from Sir Hugh to divers persons, in which the whole corrupt scheme was disclosed. From these letters it appears that as early as December 7, [illegible], Sir Hugh was treating with the Dominion Government for conditions upon which he was to help to carry the approaching election. He was to furnish [illegible] for certain purposes in connection with the election, and in consideration thereof was to have the coveted contract. The law, [illegible] as to require that tenders should be received, this seemed to trouble the ministers somewhat. It was not easy to see how they could engage to give Sir Hugh the contract when they were required to advertise for tenders, and there might be lower and better bids than Sir Hugh and his associates were willing to make. On December 8th he writes that Sir Francis Hincks, Minister of Finance, has just called at his office, and that while he is anxious as ever to consummate the arrangement, he is at a loss to know how to get over the law requiring the government to receive tenders, because if the contracts were made contrary to law the Government would be attacked by the House." It does not appear just what expedient was resorted to to get around the law. Probably that is the point on which the members of Parliament were approached. At all events they did get around it some way, and Sir Hugh obtained the contract on the terms above stated. In one of his letters he says that it has cost him all told $343,000 in gold. In a previous letter to his associates he writes: "I think you will have to go it blind in the matter of money and payments. I have already paid $8,500, and have not a voucher, and cannot get one." Oakes Ames and his [illegible] when it comes to, as they transacted the business through checks that were afterwards returned and appeared in evidence; but it is not expected these Dominion people will be up to business. At any rate, Sir Hugh is without vouchers, and feels bad over it. His letters also directly implicate Sir Geo. Cartier, Minister of Militia, and a person whom he mentions only as "Sir John A."—unpleasantly suggestive of the Premier aforementioned. He complains that one of his lieutenants in the campaign of corruption, a Mr. McMullen, squanders money unnecessarily; says he "wastes powder and shot in bringing down small game,' intending "inferior members of the Government." This Canadian Oakes Ames is constantly complaining about the immense amount of money he must expend to get the contract. Among the letters are some written during the pendency of the last election. To this Sir Hugh refers dolefully. He has already expended $300,000, and expects momentarily to be called upon for $50,000 more. And besides this, he was compelled, he says, to distribute $850,000 of stock to make matters easy. These look like enormous sums, but they aggregate only a little over a million. What is that in comparison with the immense profits of the contract? Hardly a drop in the bucket.

And finally after the election is over and Sir Hugh and his friends are triumphant, he sums up the whole matter most cheerfully in a letter to an American friend:

> "The policy adopted has been quite successful, the strong French influence I succeeded in obtaining has proved sufficient to control the elections, and as soon as the Government realized the fact, which they were unwilling to admit and slow to see, they opened negotiations with me. It is unnecessary to detail the various phases through which it passed, but the result is that we yesterday signed an agreement by which, on certain monetary conditions, they agree to form a company of which I am to be President, to suit my views to give me and my friends a majority of the stock and to give the company so formed the contract to build the road on the terms of the Act of Parliament which are $30,000,000 in cash and 50,000,000 acres of land, with all other advantages and privileges which can be given to us under the Act, and they agree to do everything in their power to encourage and assist the company during the whole period of construction. The final contract is to be executed within six weeks from this date, probably sooner."

This is the account of the matter, in substance, as it appears in the Tribune. A more thoroughly and shamefully corrupt piece of business we do not recollect having seen. The Credit Mobilier operators at Washington were decent in comparison with this. The purchase of a half dozen Congressmen upon such terms as allowed them at least a plausible pretext upon which to justify themselves to their consciences and the world, is nothing to the buying of the entire Cabinet and Parliament, outright, for cash and stock. We can not conceive how it is possible to add anything to the disgracefulness of this series of transactions if the reports of them are correct.

Boating has become a part of the curricula of most of the Eastern colleges. The crews are kept up and furnished with all needful funds by alumni and amateur students. In some instances the expenses are enormous. For instance: a Herald correspondent tells how Biglin, the famous oarsman who was trainer for the Amherst Agriculturals last year, was secured for Dartmouth this year. He had contracted with the 'Aggies' for this year, but Dartmouth was determined to have him. For several weeks the representatives of the two crews were in New York trying to get him to make a definite agreement. Dartmouth finally won by contracting to pay him $100 per week and his expenses from the 1st of May to the day of the race, making a nice little bill of about fifteen hundred dollars. The Tribune correspondent writes on the 10th of Swift, of Yale, who won the single scull race of last Thursday. "He is a specimen of what can be done by careful, systematic training. He commenced to work under his trainer, W. C. Dole, Jr., one year ago, and has enlarged his chest from 32½ inches to 37 inches in that time."

We are informed that arrangements have recently been effected between the parties concerned, by which Colonel B. B. Taylor of this city will assume editorial charge of the Salem Mercury in a few days. Colonel Taylor has purchased the interest in the establishment held by Mr J. W. Kelly, that gentleman retiring. Under the management of the new editor the Mercury will doubtless prove all that its readers could desire. Colonel Taylor enjoys the advantages of long and varied experience in the field of journalism. He conducted the late Herald for nearly two years with marked power and ability. As a writer Colonel Taylor is bold, clear and dignified. We don't go very much on the Democratic errors of the Mercury, and we pray that the Colonel may have the poorest possible success in making people believe in them; but if there must be Democratic newspapers in the world, we are glad to see good men conducting them.

If our correspondent, Mrs. E. H. Taylor, whose letter appears in another column of this morning's OREGONIAN, feels a sympathy for the sort of life that has got "our erring Senator" into hot water, we know of no reason why she should not be permitted to publish that fact to the world. But her idea that "J. G." had anything to do with Mrs. Brown's letter, is wholly incorrect. Mrs. Brown's letter is that of a true woman, and did not need any prompting but what it received from her true woman's heart. We have known "J. G." a long time, however, and always found his instincts on the side of good morals. We, therefore, think it is very likely he would not quarrel with Mrs. Brown and her sentiments on this subject.

Already some of the Eastern papers are agitating the question of General Grant's successor. The New York Herald vehemently warns the present incumbent against the danger of Cæsarism, and conjures him to build a Column Vendome to his own fame, by publicly renouncing all wish for re-election. The Martinsburg (West Virginia) Statesman proposes Charles J. Faulkner, formerly United States Senator from Virginia, Minister to England, and during the war, Confederate Minister to France, as the farmers' candidate for President in 1876. The Louisville Ledger endorses the nomination. We are not told what peculiar fitness he would possess as a farmers' candidate.

The New York Herald notices the fact that there are now fifteen narrow-gauge railways in operation in the United States, having 700 miles of track, and there are no less than 120 organizations and 1,250 miles under process of construction. The first named roads have been planned and constructed within the last two years. The cost through a level country is about $10,000 a mile, including a fair equipment of rolling stock, while the 4 foot 8½ inch gauge costs from $35,000 to $45,000 per mile. In the West, where the traffic is not large, the narrow-gauge road pays better on the amount of money invested than does the wide-gauge.

Probably the most remarkable of all Mr. Joaquin Miller's unique figures of speech, is one which he employs in his California sketch in the Independent of July 3d. We refer to the following: "Yonder in the rolling clouds, white with the eternal snow and lovely as God, lies Mount Shasta, an island in the rolling sea of sable wood." It strikes us that no extended criticism of this strong language is needed to make its objectionable feature apparent.

Efforts are being made by the Mercantile Library of San Francisco to induce Dr. Lord, of New York, to come to San Francisco. It is proposed to organize a course of historical lectures. Dr. Lord has a national fame, and in case he should visit this coast, we should hope that he might be persuaded to visit our State.

Butler county, Pennsylvania, has produced another noteworthy specimen of youthful indiscretion. This time it is an infant, who swallowed a large box of percussion caps. They handle the youngster very tenderly. At last accounts, the child was still serene with twenty caps to hear from.

The Alta thinks that the wooden pavements, and the immense sums made by them out of a gullible public, are among the disgraces of the age. Can the Alta name an enterprise that has not been more or less disgraced in the present century? We do not except the making of Bibles even.

The Memphis Avalanche, we fear, is "trembling on the verge," etc. It says the fact that Andy Johnson will be a candidate for Governor has about the same soothing effect on the nerves of the Bourbons that a well developed case of cholera has on a lunch party.

Mr. M. F. Jones, a gentleman well known in Oregon, delivered the oration at the celebration of the Fourth at Walla Walla. The oration is presented in full in the Spirit of the West, and is a splendid production.

The [illegible] editor of the St. Paul Press has seen Venus at noonday, and [illegible] on the summit of Mount Ida either. He wants all the fraternity to gaze at the blazing heavens until the 26th inst, at which time he avers the lovely planet will disappear.

FOR SALE,

850,000 Acres Land

IN SOUTHERN OREGON,

Title Perfect—U. S. Land Grant Fully Confirmed.

THE "PACIFIC LAND COMPANY," INCORPORated with capital stock of 5,000 shares of par value of $240 each, have purchased the road and entire land grant of the "OREGON CENTRAL MILITARY ROAD COMPANY," consisting of over 850,000 acres of Agricultural, Grazing and Timber Lands,

Passing from Eugene City, (125 miles from Portland by Railroad), through the splendid "Lake Country," to Silver City, near the border of Idaho.

Each share of the PACIFIC LAND COMPANY thus representing now over 160 acres of land, and is UNASSESSABLE.

Three thousand shares belong to the Company, and will be offered for sale by us, the entire proceeds of which will go into the Treasury.

The first one thousand shares will be offered at $120 per share, UNITED STATES CURRENCY, pay at the rate of 75 cents per acre. Every share will also be received at its par value of $240 in payment for land, as soon as the appraisals are made. Such share will then be cancelled, and not reissued, and a deed given to the purchaser.

The land will be appraised at moderate rates, in accordance with its actual value, as soon as practicable, in sections of 640 acres, and at not less than $1 50 per acre, U. S. CURRENCY, and offered for sale. Actual settlers, however, always having preference.

We refer, as to the character of this magnificent grant of land, to CLARENCE KING, Esq., the U. S. Geologist for this coast, who is familiar with it from personal observation; also to the elaborate report of the Hon B. J. Pengra, late Surveyor General of Oregon, on this road and lands, from which we quote: "There is but very little of the entire grant but what is valuable for either Farming, Grazing or Lumbering purposes."

As shares are cancelled, the average of acres to the remaining shares will naturally increase, and from cash sales dividends will be declared.

IMMIGRANTS,

BY BUYING THESE SHARES, CAN SECURE GOOD LANDS, WITH PERFECT TITLE, AT LESS THAN GOVERNMENT RATES.

For Custodians of Trust Funds, the shares of the PACIFIC LAND COMPANY combine absolute security, based on the lands, with promise of large returns, and no investment can be better for CHILDREN, as the value of the property must increase immensely in a few years.

Remittances for shares can be sent to us by Wells, Fargo & Co., or in registered letters.

Full particulars, maps and a descriptive pamphlet can be obtained at our office, where the subscription book for the shares is now open.

CITY.

The Progress Club.—As the [illegible] Hall in Carter's building, of this organization has almost approached completion in all its details, we feel justified in placing before our readers a description of the rooms and the objects of the club as they will occur when everything is in complete order. After reaching the head of the stairs leading from Alder, the first room to the left is the ball-room, the dimensions of which are 44x32 feet. A gallery for the orchestra and speakers is situated at the west end of the room. Over this gallery is fastened into the ceiling a staple, the object of which is to attach a block and tackle to it, by which the billiard table and other articles, liable to be in the way on occasions of a festive character can be [illegible]ed. Over the gallery on the rear wall is a monogram painted in beautiful colors giving the initials of the club—"P. C." A dressing room for ladies is set apart beneath the gallery, which will be quite convenient when the fair ones require a slight change in their [illegible] or head adornments. Four beautiful [illegible] give relief to the bare walls, and [illegible] the gas-pipes, which supply four elegant chandeliers, enter the ceiling, are frescoed [illegible] representing the seasons, and the same is the case over the center chandelier—a gorgeous affair. There is ample room for at least nine quadrille sets in this room at one time. Through sliding doors we enter the billiard room, the dimensions of which are 25x40 feet. On the walls are hung pictures of Oregon [illegible] to those [illegible] as "the Portland [illegible]." The adjoining room, on the corner, is the Ladies' Parlor and reading room, which is [illegible]tly furnished. On the south of this, is the room for the benefit of those who desire a game of whist, chess, checkers and [illegible]ments of this character. Beyond is the saloon where luncheons, liquors and wines can be had. Convenient to all these is a storeroom. A long passage way gives access to the rooms, and hooks have been placed on the walls for the reception of wearing apparel. Arrangements have been made for the proper warming of the rooms, by heaters or open fire-places. All the [illegible] will be well supplied with gas and artificial light and the ventilation is excellent. The gas fixtures are from the house of Cornelius & Son, Philadelphia, and were set up by [illegible] of this city. Carpets and upholstery by Walter Bros; furniture by Emil, L[illegible] & Co.; a fine clock by I. C. Hen[illegible] & Co.; frescoing by W. F. Poldeman; [illegible] grand Hallett & Davis piano by W. [illegible], and the billiard table was purchased [illegible] the Portland Club, and is in good order. The [illegible] room, ladies' parlor, smoking [illegible]loon will be carpeted and upholstered; stairway and hallway will be laid with the [illegible] materials. Messrs. Isam White, [illegible] and Emil Frank were the purchasing committee, and their selections indicate [illegible] taste and judgment. The total cost of fitting up the rooms will be about [illegible] will give our readers an idea of the [illegible] of the arrangements. The [illegible] be open to members on Saturday [illegible] the formal opening will take [illegible] a fortnight with a grand ball. [illegible] is limited. With proper management the Progress Club is sure to be a success. [illegible] who have the interest of the club [illegible] the people to make the institution [illegible] of pleasure to the members and [illegible] is everything.

[illegible].—Yesterday morning about [illegible] guardians of the peace [illegible] to their respective [illegible] man near the intersection of [illegible] Park streets. When [illegible] appeared to be moving [illegible] manner, casting furtive [illegible] few steps. Some dark [illegible] on his shoulder, but in the [illegible] and darkness could not [illegible] the officers with sufficient [illegible] to tell what it was. [illegible] a corner, when the [illegible] shone strongly down [illegible] revealed to the officers [illegible] neither more nor less than [illegible]. No honest minded man would be [illegible] the streets at that late hour [illegible] on his shoulder. So re[illegible]. Cautious pursuit, with [illegible] instantly determined [illegible] started stealthily for [illegible] the thief. He was nearly two [illegible] Mr. carriage thief was on [illegible] the officers, however. His [illegible] sound of the policemen's [illegible] that he was pursued, he dropped the buggy and ran. He was hotly [illegible] blocks, but finding that the [illegible] rapidly gaining on him he darted [illegible] dropped in the darkness. [illegible] for the thief for some time, [illegible] eluded the officers and so escaped. The carriage was then taken to the [illegible] quarters, where it was claimed yesterday by the owner, Mr. E. Milwain, from [illegible] it had been stolen.

[illegible] Hurt.—Mr. John Atkinson met with an accident yesterday afternoon while out [illegible] on the Canyon road, west of the city. One of the springs of the buggy in which he was seated getting out of order, Mr. A[illegible] got down to make some temporary [illegible]. He had scarcely started to get in [illegible] the horse suddenly moved forward. This caused Atkinson to lose his balance and fall backwards. He still retained [illegible] of the lines. In falling, he slipped between the whiffle[illegible] and the heels of the animal. [illegible] dragging in this [illegible] scare and ac[illegible] Mr. Atkinson could neither [illegible] the now frightened animal. Every bound [illegible] caused Atkinson's [illegible] bruises and scratches. [illegible] hundred yards, the [illegible] to slip from out his dangerous [illegible] check the career of the horse. [illegible] inventory of injuries, Atkinson [illegible] legs were badly scratched and [illegible] though, fortunately, no bones were [illegible] the buggy and harness came out [illegible].

[illegible] with Honors.—We have been [illegible] programme of the commencement [illegible] held at the Long Island College Hospital, on Thursday, June 26th, and also a copy of the Brooklyn Mail containing a long description of the exercises. Among the [illegible] we observe the name of George H. [illegible], Jr., son of the Rev. George H. Atkinson, of this city. This young man has been [illegible] college for the last five years. [illegible] school at Forest Grove for three years [illegible] East in August, 1869. Soon [illegible] Dartmouth College from which [illegible] of learning he graduated in 1871. [illegible] time Mr. Atkinson has been attending [illegible] medicine and surgery at Brooklyn [illegible] above mentioned college. From [illegible] he has just graduated with all [illegible] which it could confer. Mr Atkinson [illegible] Oregon boy we are proud to say, having [illegible] at Oregon City twenty-four years ago. He will probably establish himself in Oregon for the practice of his chosen profession.

Destroyed by Fire.—About 3:30 A. M. yesterday the alarm of fire was sounded. Almost [illegible] with the alarm, clouds of smoke [illegible] from a house situated on North [illegible] and Oak streets, and flames were observed [illegible] from the roof. The Department arrived at the scene of conflagration [illegible] bells were tapped as possible but the flames spread so rapidly that before the [illegible] got in working trim, the building was too far gone to be saved from almost total destruction. [illegible] owned by Mr. Tuttle, [illegible] street, and the loss is estimated at [illegible]000. There was no insurance on the building. Mr. J. R. Farrish was living in the house at the time. Nearly all the household furniture was rescued from the building in time to escape destruction. Only about $100 worth of furniture [illegible] broken and consumed. On the furniture there was a policy for $1,000 in the Home Mutual, and on the pictures, etc., a policy in the Fireman's Fund for $300, making a total of $1,300. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Burglars Operating.—An attempt was made by some of the light-fingered fraternity to effect an entrance to the furniture and warehouse of Messrs. [illegible] Hurgren & Shindler, on First street, at an early hour yesterday morning. The attempt proved abortive, for the burglars were disturbed before they had succeeded in carrying anything of value away. By [illegible] the burglars broke into the back [illegible], and from there commenced operations to [illegible] their way in. In the operation, the corner of a pane of glass was broken. Through the aperture one thief inserted his hand and was enabled to unlock the door. Gaining admittance to the building the thieves groped their way to nearly the center of the building when their presence was discovered by the clerk, who was sleeping in the store. He arose hastily, and the burglars hearing the noise made good their escape before the Police could be summoned.

Track Torn Up.—The filling in of North First street between E and F, with earth in order to bring it up to the established grade has necessitated the tearing up of the street car track for that distance. The turn table at F street has been removed, and loose earth to the depth of several feet has been piled up on the spot. Since the loose, yielding earth was first filled in along North First street across Couch's Lake, the action of the water and the weather has caused the embankment to settle several feet below the grade and the object is to again bring the street to its required altitude. A gravel train is running hourly and bringing down immense quantities of earth, and the entire work will be completed in a few days. For the present the street cars will not run further north than C street.

A Missionary.—We learn that Rev. Dr. Atkinson, of this city, has been over at the terminal town, Tacoma, for some days, looking around, and has concluded to return there shortly with the arrangements complete to erect and open a large tent to be used as a kind of resort for strangers and others in that place who do not desire to frequent saloons and other places of questionable moral surroundings. Dr. A. intends to supply his headquarters with late newspapers, periodicals and such other books and attractions as will draw the sojourners, engage their attention and amuse their leisure moments. This is is a good move, and one the advantages of which are not a matter of doubt. We trust the reverend gentleman will meet with due encouragement.

Pest House Located.—Permission was granted last evening to the Common Council by Messrs. Green and Leonard, for the use of a piece of land for an indefinite period, on which to erect a pest house. This land is situated north of Portland, and the spot selected for the pest house is opposite the head of Giles' Lake, about three miles from the city. A good road can be opened to the location for a small sum, and an abundant supply of excellent spring water can be procured near at hand. Chief Lappeus is authorized to proceed at once to the erection of a suitable house to which patients afflicted with this loathsome disorder can be removed, and comfortably provided for. Carpenters will begin without delay.

Clear the Streets.—In compliance with the new ordinance persons are required to keep clear the streets in front of either places of business or residences abutting on streets which are planked or covered with Nicolson pavement, after next Saturday. Ten days' notice is given persons, and after the 20th inst. those who refuse or neglect to strictly comply with the ordinance, will be promptly reported to the Police Judge by the Superintendent of Streets. It might be as well for those who are included in the ordinance to give the matter that attention due its importance. The Superintendent has his duty to perform in the premises, and he has no option in the matter. Those who choose to comply with the ordinance must expect to abide by results.

Temperance Organ.—A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Grand Lodge, Independent Order of Good Templars, was held in this city on last Saturday evening. Among the business of importance transacted by the Committee, was the appointment of a temperance organ for the Order in this State. The Pantagraph, published at Roseburg by Mr. R. H. Tyson, was designated as the temperance paper for the State, the appointment to take effect on the 21st of the present month. The conditions of the appointment require that the paper shall contain no partisan politics, but be devoted wholly and strictly to the cause of temperance.

Held to Answer.—Patsy Foy was examined yesterday morning in the Police Court on the charge of assault with intent to kill. At the conclusion of the examination, the Court held Foy to answer before the Grand Jury in the sum of $250. Required bonds were given and the defendant released from custody.

All Loading.—So far as concerns shipping, the lower sawmill presents a very lively appearance. There are lying at the wharf along side of the mill three vessels the Garibaldi, Edward James and Forward. All these vessels are loading with lumber—two for Melbourne and one for Hongkong.

Case Continued.—Yesterday morning the case of State vs. John Smith, the adroit forger, was called for examination. Owing to the absence of one of the principal witnesses for the prosecution, the case was continued until this morning.

PERSONAL.

Rev. Geo. H. Atkinson will take his departure this morning for Tacoma where he will remain for a few days.

Gen. M. M. McCarver, well known to all old residents of Oregon, is in this city temporarily, under the care of a physician. He is troubled with an old fever sore on his limb, but is rapidly improving. He is sanguine of the prospects of Tacoma as the future queen of the Northwest and speaks very high of its superior advantages over other points for the terminus of the great highway across the continent. He now smiles when he thinks of the many obstacles thrown in his way when years ago he started out to look for what he has now found, the terminus site. And well he may, for if Tacoma in future becomes all her friends predict the General's name will be handed down to posterity as one of her founders, her godfather in fact.

BASE BALL.

In the East they consider nine a big score to be made by a professional club in nine innings.

July 12th at New York—Mutual, 9 runs, 6 blanks; Atlantic, 5 runs, 6 blanks. At Philadelphia, Athletic, 5 runs, 7 blanks, Boston, 4 runs, all made in the fourth inning.

The all-absorbing topic among the lovers of the national game is the forthcoming final game between the Pacific and Pioneer Clubs. The score at present stands in favor of the former, though they will have to muster a good nine, well trained by practice, to expect to win the deciding game.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

The Committee on Fire and Water reported that they had conferred with the Portland Water Company in regard to the price at which said Company would furnish water to the city cisterns and public buildings, and that water would be furnished at $00 per month. The report was laid on the table.

The Committee on Judiciary reported the bill of J. J. Dyer for fees correct, and recommended payment. The report was adopted and a warrant ordered drawn for the amount.

The special committee appointed to revise the salaries of city officers reported as follows:

To the Honorable Common Council: The committee appointed to revise the salaries of the city officers, and to report what curtailment, in their opinion might be made in the same without injury to the city's interests, have examined the subject carefully and impartially, and beg leave to submit for the consideration of the Council the following recommendations in the matter, believing that the same may be adopted without the city's interests suffering thereby or injustice being done to any one.

The committee's recommendations:

1. That the Treasurer's salary be reduced from $1,800 to $1,500 per annum.
2. That the Attorney's salary be reduced from $1,800 to $1,400 per annum.
3. That the Chief Engineer's salary be reduced from $800 to $600 per annum.
4. That the office of Clerk of Police Court be abolished, by repealing ordinance No. 950, "Providing for the appointment of a Clerk to the Police Court and fixing his compensation."

The salaries or compensation paid to the Auditor, Assessor, Chief Engineer as Fire Warden and Clerk of the Fire Department are not considered excessive for the faithful performance of the whole duties belonging to their respective offices, the committee therefore have no reduction of pay to recommend in the cases of these officers.

The salary of Police Judge was not had under consideration by the committee, from the fact that the charter prohibits a reduction of the same during the incumbent's term of office.

In regard to the offices of Surveyor and assistants, and of Superintendent of Streets, the committee hope it will not be extending the limits of their duty for them to advise the consolidation of these separate departments under one head, thereby lessening the force now employed to carry on these branches of the city service and consequently the saving of much expense to the city. They (the committee) are unanimous in the opinion that this can be done, and for the accomplishment of which they respectfully recommend

1st. That ordinance No. 697, "Defining the duties and fixing the compensation of the City Surveyor," be repealed; and,

2d. The passing of an ordinance declaring the City Surveyor to be the deputy of or assistant to the Superintendent of Streets, and,

3d. The passing of an ordinance defining the duties, and fixing the salaries of the Superintendent of Streets, and of the Surveyor as such deputy or assistant, and embodying therein as many or all of the duties heretofore performed by the Surveyor, as the Council may deem necessary, and providing for such other assistance as may, in the judgment of the Council, be required.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

GEORGE W. HOYT,
E. M. BURTON,
J. H. LYON,
Committee.

On motion, the report was adopted, and the same committee was authorized to present ordinances to the Common Council embodying the recommendations contained in said report.

REPORTS OF OFFICERS.

The Chief of Police reported that he had offered certain lands in the city limits for sale for delinquent taxes, and that no bidders for said lands presented themselves, and thereupon he had adjourned said sale, subject to the order of the Common Council.

The report was laid on the table.

CLAIMS.

The following claims were ordered paid: OREGONIAN Publishing Company, $43 95; P. G. Baker, $852 37.

BUSINESS ON THE TABLE.

The report of the Committee on Streets and Public Property relative to a system of sewerage, was taken from the table, read for information, and adopted.

ORDINANCES.

An ordinance authorizing the owners of block 78 to build a wharf adjacent to said block to low water mark, provided that wharf shall not interfere with navigation of the river or use of the street, was read a first and second time, rule suspended, ordinance read a third time and passed.

An ordinance declaring the cost of improving that part of B street lying between North Thirteenth street and western boundary of the city was laid over.

An ordinance making an appropriation of [illegible] out of the fund for the improvement of B street was read a third time and passed.

A substitute for the ordinance to prevent horses and cattle from running at large within certain limits in the city, was presented, read, and referred to a special committee consisting of Councilmen Russell, Hill and Hoyt.

An ordinance authorizing the contract for building a cistern of the capacity of 20,000 gallons at the corner of Oak and Seventh streets, was read a first and second time, rule suspended, ordinance read a third time and passed.

An ordinance making an appropriation of $200 out of the General Fund to pay the expenses of making a plan of sewerage for the city, was read a first time, and referred to a special committee consisting of Councilmen Story, Lyon and Caywood.

SITE FOR PEST HOUSE.

The Auditor made a verbal report of his doings, under the instructions of the Council to procure a tract of land for a pest house, stating that the tract offered by the County Commissioners was entirely impracticable, as it would cost several thousand dollars to open a road thereto, and that a tract of land near the head of Giles' Lake had been offered to the city for the purpose under consideration.

On motion the rules were suspended and an ordinance to provide for the erection of a house for the care of smallpox patients, was read a first and second time, rule suspended, ordinance read a third time and passed.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A resolution was adopted declaring that all bills contracted by the Board of Delegates and not paid, be returned to said Board.

The Auditor was instructed to issue warrants for the collection of delinquent street assessments.

A resolution was adopted directing the City Attorney to vacate the room now occupied by him, and that the same be kept for use of the Council as a committee room.

On motion the Council adjourned.

A fact worth remembering—Five cents worth of Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders, given to a horse twice a week, will save double that amount in grain and the horse will be fatter, sleeker, and every way worth more money than though he did not have them.

Married ladies under all circumstances, will find Parson's Purgative Pills safe, and, in small doses, a mild carthartic. They cause no griping pains or cramp.

Some people may become excited over the terminus of the Northern Pacific Railroad, on Puget Sound, but it does not disturb Beck & Waldman, corner Front and Washington streets, in the least, as they intend to pursue the usual course to their customers and that is to sell goods at prices which will enable those with limited means to provide themselves with good clothing at a very small outlay of money. Parents should bring their children to this house for neat fitting suits.

Why linger in blissful ignorance? Why do you wander about seeking a place where they keep the largest and finest stock of Summer Clothing? Why pay high prices for goods when the fact has been long established that the great firm of J. KOHN & Co. 91 Front street sell Clothing and Gents Furnishing Goods so cheap? They keep the best, they sell the cheapest and what more can be asked?

By order of the V. G. I., the G. C. of R. read the dispensation for the establishment of a Great Council of the Improved Order of Red Men for the State of Oregon, granted by the Great Incohonee, James P. The Great Sachem, Le F. A. Shaw, made a brief salutatory, a synopsis of which was ordered spread upon the Records, and is as follows:

Representatives: Having been elected to the highest position to which your partiality can place me, and having been duly "raised up" to that position, it seems incumbent on me, upon assuming the duties of my position, to acknowledge my appreciation of the high honor you have conferred upon me.

Brothers, I deeply feel this evidence of your kindness, and I thank you for this expression of your faith in me, and in my capacity as an executive officer, particularly for this, the first Great Sun of our existence as a Great Council.

As you all no doubt fully comprehend, this first Great Sun will be one of unusual labor for us all. Many things must be done which were not necessary while we were working under Charters from the Great Council of the United States, but having received the sanction of the Great Council, we must now look well to the Tribes under our charge, giving them the necessary instructions whereby they may labor to advance the growth and prosperity of our fraternal Order. We must endeavor to institute new Tribes within our borders, and to do so successfully we must live up to the principles which our Order seeks to inculcate.

In accepting the position of Great Sachem, I will simply say that it will always be my endeavor to do my whole duty to the Order, and should I fail in anything, I ask you not to attribute such failure to any lack of zeal on my part.

In conclusion, Brothers, let me again thank you for this new mark of your favor in placing me in this exalted position, and I sincerely trust that your anticipations may not be disappointed.

The Great Council Fire was then kindled in ample form.

The Great Sachem appointed the following committees:

On motion of Rep. Pilkington the G. C. Fire was duly quenched, to be rekindled at the 7th Run, 30th Breath, S. S.

FINALLY DECIDED.

It is an old but true saying that a man is known by the books he reads and the company he keeps. This saying is illustrative of the great sewing machine war, in which nearly all the second-class machines have played prominent parts, expending much ammunition and making forced marches attended with great loss. But our readers have not seen the name of the world renowned GROVER & BAKER SEWING MACHINE flourished before the people in the above connection, and this dignified reserve has established the popularity of the GROVER & BAKER SEWING MACHINE, now and forever. It stands on its respectability and merits. These machines make the ELASTIC STITCH and SHUTTLE STITCH, and will be sold on installments of $10 per month. W. T. Shanahan, agent, 71 First street.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Importance of Healthy Blood.

Every drop of blood that circulates through the veins eventually becomes a solid particle of the body. Flesh, bone and muscle are merely solidified blood, and upon the quality of the blood depends the condition of the whole physical system. Unless the liquid material by which the human substance is renewed and sustained is pure and nutritious it is impossible that the body can be healthy and strong. One of the most important properties of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is that of improving the condition of the vital fluid when infected or impoverished. Acting directly and powerfully upon the stomach, in which the manufacture of the blood is commenced, and upon the liver which secretes a fluid next in importance to the stream of life itself, this powerful vegetable tonic and depurent has an immense indirect influence upon the circulation. Hence the extraordinary cures wrought by the Bitters in cases of general debility, malarious fevers, rheumatism, biliousness, constipation, &c.

It is no Fiction.—Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry has cured and is now curing thousands of sufferers from that terrible disease, consumption. Do not hesitate a moment, but provide yourself with this cure, which has had an enviable reputation for nearly half a century.

Substitutes in the Dental Ranks are not desirable; therefore keep the natural teeth sound and pure with that wholesome vegetable elixir SOZODONT. Do this, and they will last as long as the breath lasts, and the breath itself will never be tainted. 27

COLEMAN'S EUCALYPTUS

Dr. J. S. Coleman's Compound Extract of Eucalyptus is a preparation combining all the valuable medical qualities of the Eucalyptus, which is cultivated in nearly every California garden for its medical utility, having become the household remedy for all diseases of the KIDNEYS, BLADDER and URINARY CANAL and SEMINAL WEAKNESS. It seems to have a direct affinity for the GENITO-URINARY ORGANS and their surroundings, and cures them by its alterative, healing and balsamic properties more effectually than any other known remedy.

It is an invaluable remedy for all diseases of the mucous and serous membranes, such as BRONCHITIS, HACKING COUGH, NAUSEA DURING PREGNANCY, DYSPEPSIA, LEUCORRHŒA, etc.

This preparation is the result of Dr. Coleman's experiments with the medicinal properties of the tree in the U. S. Marine Hospital in San Francisco, in 1871 and 1872, where he had unusual facilities for testing the various methods of preparing the remedy, and its uses. It can be relied upon as certain to give the proudest results and hundreds of testimonials of its efficacy can be seen at his office, 405 Kearney street, San Francisco.

COLEMAN'S DOUBLE EXTRACT OF EUCALYPTUS is a powerful, yet harmless, febrifuge, and is a special preparation for the treatment of the malarious fevers of our inferior valleys, and is warranted to cure any case of FEVER AND AGUE treated with it according to directions, while the baneful results of the usual Quinine and arsenical remedies of those diseases are entirely avoided.

FOR PHYSICIANS. Coleman's Fluid Extract of Eucalyptus in 1-lb bottles.

Wheat in Liverpool—Average California 12s 7d. @13s 1d.; Club 12s@12s 9d.

Our local money market to-day presents but little subject for comment, the complaints of closeness so prevalent during the spring and earlier part of the summer having been less frequently heard of late. That a better supply of funds is in the market than at the same period last year is not denied, and we are confident that the scarcity of capital to move the grain crop will not be so severely felt as then. That trade is dull is true, but we believe that fact to be attributable less to the actual scarcity of money than to other causes.

The Tonnage Supply.

The question of the prospective tonnage supply during the harvest year upon which we have just entered is of paramount importance to all who are interested in the wheat trade. The inward bound fleet for this coast is less in numbers than last year by some twenty vessels, but it is hoped that the fact that California's crop of wheat being one-fourth less than last year, some of the ships may be induced to come hither for cargoes. Last year we had several ships come here with iron which loaded wheat on their return, but this season that inducement will be wanting, and the ships that come must mostly come in ballast. On the 15th inst the number of vessels bound for San Francisco was 104, with an aggregate capacity of 155,100 tons. At a corresponding period last year the number was 175. An exchange of the 19th from that city says: "In aggregate tonnage this year is fully equal to that of last year, while the inducements in the way of high rates are somewhat more favorable for ship owners than those of a year ago. The prospect at present, in all respects, is quite as good for a large supply of tonnage for the ensuing year as at this time last year, while the requirements for wheat, owing to a short crop, will be considerably less."

The vessels now here will load the old crop, after which there will be no more foreign shipments until the new crop begins to move. From the best information we can obtain there are about as many grain carrying vessels under charter to come here as on the first of August last year, eight or ten in all, but the time of their probable arrival extends over a longer period than last year, and while some of them are expected in September, others will hardly put in an appearance until December. Where the ships to carry off the surplus, after these shall have been loaded, are to come from is a question that time must solve; but at present we confess it is not a bright prospect of an adequate supply that presents itself.

Why Wool is Cheap.

We find in a late number of the New York World, a statement of the causes that operate to produce the changes that the American—nay, the world—Wool market has undergone during the last couple of years. From this it appears that by an oversight of Congress, Wool in the skin was admitted at a very low tariff, and that the leading Wool importers took advantage to deluge the country with cheap foreign Wools. Wool in the United States went down so low as to render it unprofitable to send to market. Consequently sheep were killed for other purposes, and American Wool, if we may except that from the Pacific coast, became a drug in New York, Boston and Philadelphia markets. Meanwhile, the mistake in the tariff was discovered and rectified, and what remained of American Wool ran up to an unusually high figure. People imagined that this would be lasting, and the market again became stocked; hence the subsequent depression. The market therefore cannot be expected to undergo any remarkable change during next year.

There is not much to note in the local market. A late New York circular says the receipts of new clip have been more liberal, arrivals of five car loads being noted The demand from manufacturers has been fair and prices have ruled steadily. We learn that manufacturers have been buying to some extent of growers directly, and that firmer prices have been caused thereby in the interior. The goods market is dull. We do not learn that the trade takes any more hopeful a view of the situation than heretofore.
